E-Colors:

Yellow/Blue

Current position:

Senior Coach

When I joined Equilibria:

January, 2008

Why I joined Equilibria:

I saw the opportunity to join a great, young company that was committed to contribute to people's quality of life through the building of better communication and working skills.

As well as the opportunity to contribute to some of my own work and practices.

My professional background:

I bring twenty-five years of management experience and organizational development. My professional specializations include executive coaching, management, leadership and teamwork education, professional and organizational development and strategic business development.

My practice has covered North America, South and Central America, and East Africa. I have worked with private and governmental organizations including Apple, Palm, Chevron, the U.S. Department of State and U.S. Embassies in Tanzania, Chile, El Salvador and Panama

I worked for more than eight years at Apple Computer, Inc. as an Instructional Designer and Senior Director of the Newton Support Engineering organization and also worked almost five years at Palm, Inc. as a Senior Executive leading the Platform Alliances group.

In addition, I volunteered for nine years as a member of the Santa Clara Youth-at-Risk Foundation mentoring program, training and coaching over 500 mentors working with inner city youth committed to creating a better life for themselves.

My educational background:

I hold an M.A. in Educational Technology from San Diego State University, have completed the coursework of an M.S. in Computer Science from Centro de Investigación Científica y Educación Superior de Ensenada, and a B.A. in Management Information Systems from Centro de Enseñanza Técnica y Superior de Tijuana.

My family and general interests/hobbies:

I am the husband of Stephanie a U.S. Diplomat working for USAID and father of Sofia (6) and Katia (3) who keep me young and learning. We are currently living in Panama where Stephanie is stationed.
