Current position:

Coach

When I joined Equilibria:

June 1st 2011

Why I joined Equilibria:

Equilibria's values and mission are congruent with my philosophy of living a balanced and fulfilling life both professionally and personally. The culture within Equilibria is supportive and encouraging while trusting me to let my background and life experience enhance my coaching style.

My Professional Background

I began working in the experiential education field early in my working life. Not long afterward it would form into becoming a Lead International Outward Bound Instructor throughout various parts of the globe. Working and living the "Four Pillars of Outward Bound; Physical Fitness, Self Reliance, Craftsmanship and Service, blossomed into a very diverse working background. For example, I have worked as a Commercial Lobsterman, Logger, Coal Miner, Global History School Teacher, Safety and Logistics Coordinator in Iraq, Lead Cargo Supervisor on Antarctica, Big Game Hunting Guide in Alaska and Rig Safety and Leadership Coach/Facilitator within the Oil and Gas industry.

My educational background:

I have an Associate's Degree in Criminal Justice, Bachelors Degree in History, and a Teaching Certificate for Secondary Education all from the State University of New York at Brockport.

My family and general interests/hobbies:

My Fiancé Erin and I look forward to raising a happy and healthy family. My passions are to read, hike, riding my Harley, cigars, scotch, laughing with Erin, my friendships, continuing to be a Citizen of the World whilst making a difference in the lives of my friends, family and the people I meet along the way of my blessed life.
